An Hour for Democracy: Electoral Literacy Programme

Unique Voter Enrolment Drive held at Colleges in Mysuru

Mysuru, Nov. 24 (PM&DM)- With only one-fifth of the eligible young voters (17,000 out of 85,000 voters) getting enrolled in the draft electoral rolls, the Office of the Deputy Commissioner (DC), in association with the Department of Collegiate Education and Department of Pre-University Education, held a one-day unique voter enrolment drive Prajaprabhutvakkagi Ondu Gante' (An Hour for Democracy), at all PU Colleges, Degree Colleges and other higher educational institutions across the city and district today under SVEEP (Systematic Voters Education and Electoral Participation) programme.

The campaign was held after the Election Commission of India (ECI) allowed 17-year-olds to register in advance. Accordingly, those above 17 can now apply in advance for getting enrolled in the voters list and need not wait to fulfil the pre-requisite criterion of attaining the age of 18 as on Jan.1 of a year.

Mysuru Deputy Commissioner Dr. K.V. Rajendra (centre), who launched the voter enrolment drive at Maharani's PU College for Girls on Narayana Shastry Road in city this morning, seen with officials and college students.

Mysuru DC Dr. K.V. Rajendra, who is also the District Election Officer, formally launched the drive at a programme held at Maharani's PU College for Girls on N.S. Road in city this morning.

Speaking on the occasion, he said that the drive is held with an objective of greater public participation for a stronger democracy.

Pointing out that only 17,000 out of the 85,000 eligible young voters in the district have enrolled in the electoral rolls so far, Dr. Rajendra said he was delighted for getting an opportunity to interact with students who are aged over 17 years and educate them on the need for registering themselves in the electoral rolls and make an informed decision during the elections.

"An hour for democracy electoral roll enrolment drive is aimed at making young voters participate in Democracy. With the 2023 Assembly polls and the 2024 Lok Sabha polls on way, the district administration conducted this unique drive for the benefit of students who can now enrol online through Voter Helpline App. New voters can also call Toll-free Helpline No.1950 for any clarification or other details they want," the DC said.

Mangaluru cooker bomb blast case

Police question auto, taxi drivers to track movements

Rented room at Lokanayakanagar seized, sealed

Mysuru, Nov. 24 (RK&BCT)- Investigating the evidence collected from the rented room of Shariq, the prime suspect in the Mangaluru autorickshaw cooker bomb blast case, at Lokanayakanagar near Metagalli and tracking his movements around Mysuru city, the Police are questioning several auto drivers and taxi operators to trace the routes usually taken by him.

After renting out the single room accommodation for a higher rent than the usual, Shariq had travelled to several places within Mysuru city limits and usually used app-based auto and taxis for his journey. He used to book the locations and time of the travel through his mobile phone.

Armed with the data that has been recorded by the software of app aggregators, the Police are questioning several auto and taxi drivers to know where all he travelled within Mysuru city and his places of interest.

Usually, he used to head out at 8 am from his house and return only late at 10.30 pm. He used to travel to different locations within the city and used various vehicles booked through app-based service.

Investigation has revealed that on Nov. 18, he entered the KSRTC Sub-Urban Bus Stand and took a vehicle from Dalvoy School. He travelled in a KSRTC bus through Madikeri, Sullia and Puttur to reach Mangaluru. The next day, he was travelling in an auto in the coastal city when the bomb exploded, said a Police officer privy to the information.

The Police are now scanning the CCTV camera visuals recorded in Sub-Urban Bus Stand to ascertain whether Shariq was carrying the cooker from Mysuru or whether he has a place in Mangaluru to make cooker bombs and other Improvised Explosive Devices (IEDs) and if there is anyone who is helping him.

Meanwhile, the Police have seized the rented room of Shariq at Lokanayakanagar in Metagalli and have sealed the premises. The room where he stayed has been locked.

Shariq had learnt rudimentary bomb-making from groups on encrypted messaging platforms. Police said that videos on how to make a bike bomb and cooker bomb were recovered from Shariq's phone.

Aadarshavadi Kannada novel by K.B. Ganapathy

Mysuru, Nov. 24- The Kannada novel Aadarshavadi by senior journalist K.B. Ganapathy (KBG) has gone into second edition after 30 years. It was first published in 1992.

Kavitha Prakashana of Publisher Ganesh Amingad has brought out this second edition.

"The book was published in 1992 and I had forgotten about it. However, when Ganesh Amingad, who had earlier read it, reminded me of it suggesting a second edition, I had happily agreed," said KBG.

The book discusses an individual's claim for idealism in life and how he gives up those ideals in the face of hard realities of life.

"This is a unique kind of novel where man's greed makes him to compromise on ethical principles. Though 30 years have passed, the book seems relevant to the contemporary ethos. Our publication considers it a privilege to bring this second edition," says Publisher Ganesh Amingad in a press note.

The book priced at Rs. 160 is available for Rs. 100 as early-bird offer. For further information and the book, contact Mob: 98801-05526.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Prayer is a spontaneous outpouring of the soul, a moment of surrender to 'Someone' beyond oneself. It is an acceptance of the human condition — the helplessness of being human in an inexplicable universe. It is a sense of connection to something greater than oneself. Prayer can come to our lips in any circumstance, however abject or elevating, in the weakest as well as the strongest of moments. It is the last resort of despair, a gesture of giving oneself up to whatever is to come, "Thy will not mine be done." It is the cry of grief at the harsh blow that has been struck, and we turn to the almighty in wordless agony, trying to make sense of what has happened. Whatever the motive of prayer, it comes from within the founts of one's being as a cleansing agent for the thousand ills and grudges we harbour against the world and even ourselves.

Nature itself is a lesson in prayer. We see the mighty assemblage of branches, bark, and foliage of trees holding aloft their arms in supplication; we see the mountain peaks glistening white and red in the rays of the sun in motionless prayer at dawn; we see the carpets of grass and the wildflowers that bend with the wind and rain in respectful obeisance to an Unseen Entity. When nature itself appears to be in mindful prayer, we as human beings need to raise our hands in humility and prayer. Everything is a testament to God, not the least of which is man.

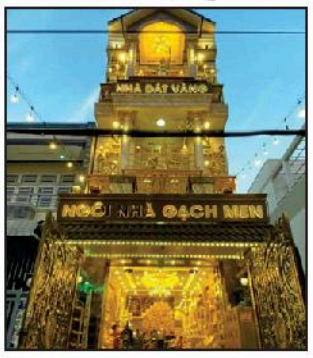
Vietnam's famous Gilded House is an ode to gold



Can Tho: An entrepreneur in Can Tho, Vietnam's fourth-largest city, has been getting a lot of attention for his unique home, which is gilded both inside and out.

Nguyen Van Trung is a Vietnamese businessman, who reportedly made his fortune in the real-estate business. After visiting many countries around the world, he decided to return to his home city and build a house with a real touristic appeal and after speaking with a home decorator he decided to go for a gold theme. From the walls to the furniture and the various decorations, everything looks like it's made of gold or at least gold-plated.

The owner's obsession with gold is even more obvious on the inside. Everything looks gold-plated, even though in reality it is just painted or covered in gold leaf, but the effect is so realistic that most visitors believe that both the exterior and interior of the house are plated with 18K gold.

Potholed busy road crying for attention

Sir,

The stretch from Seth Mohandas Tulsidas Hospital on JLB Road till NIE College is replete with potholes and road humps. With all kinds of vehicles plying on this road and many schools and colleges in the vicinity, this road is always busy and yet maintained in a pathetic state.

Will the concerned ever look into this issue or wait for an accident to happen?

Hope the road repairing is not waiting for the 2023 election or for any Minister to pass through this road to inaugurate a project or a statue.

A tribute

Does a legend ever die…

Volker Stutzer with his wife Lilian.

By N.S. Anand
[Mob: 9880203279]

My mentor, friend and father (not biological, though) Mr. Volker Stutzer died on 21st November 2022. He has left behind his daughter Dagmer, son-in-law Otto and grandson Oliver. His wife Lilian predeceased him.

Born on 9th December 1927 in Germany, Volker Stutzer was a war veteran, a journalist, an author and above all, a great altruist. He served as a paratrooper in the Second World War and after surviving the war he chose to be a journalist. Later, he became the Editor of a national newspaper called Passau Neue Presse. After retirement, he wrote several books in German as well as English. He also translated Rig Veda into German.

Mr. Volker Stutzer had great love for India and he adored Mahatma Gandhi to a great extent. He made several visits to India, especially Mysore during Dasara festival. He always enjoyed the elephant procession. As a polymath, he had good knowledge of the heritage of Mysore city and the rule of the Wadiyar dynasty.

He established a foundation called Mahatma Gandhi Foundation for which he collected funds to educate the downtrodden students in Mysore and Bangalore during the 1980s and continued this mission. More than 100 boys and girls who were educated by the Foundation are well-settled today.

During his first visit to India in 1976, more specifically Mysore, I happened to meet him at my neighbour Mr. Ali Khan's house. I was just 13 years old at that time. My relationship became so strong with him as well as his family after several visits that Mr. Volker and his wife Mrs. Lilian became my new-found parents. I was influenced by them to a large extent in my life.

While in Mysore, he always stayed with Mr. Rashid Ali, a Professor of Urdu, Maharaja's College and Mrs. Nilufar Rashid Ali, and during his stay, I made it a point to visit them every day.

He had expressed his wish that his obituary be put up in Star of Mysore because Mysore was the centre of his altruistic activities. Moreover, he knew Mr. K.B. Ganapathy, who had interviewed him on his visits to Mysore.

Operation Triple Ride

145 vehicles seized in three days

Pay all pending fines and get the vehicles released; Criminal case if caught again

Mysuru, Nov. 24 (SBD&KS)- Following increase in triple riding incidents in city, the Traffic Police personnel, belonging to Devaraja, Krishnaraja (KR), Narasimharaja (NR), V.V. Puram, Siddarthanagar and Kuvempunagar Traffic Police Stations, who conducted a special drive against triple riders, have seized a total of 145 two-wheelers in three days.

A few college students, those without work and roaming around city and youths doing stunts on their two-wheelers are indulging in triple riding putting themselves and other motorists at risk. Most of the times, the riders lose control over their two-wheelers and hit other vehicles resulting in innocent motorists suffering serious injuries. As the Traffic Police have received numerous complaints from the public in this regard, Traffic Cops have launched this special operation to put brakes on triple riding.

Deputy Commissioner of Police (DCP), Crime and Traffic, M.S. Geetha Prasanna, speaking to Star of Mysore, said that all 145 two-wheelers, that were seized in three days are parked in Siddarthanagar Traffic Police Station premises.

The owners of these seized vehicles should go to their respective Traffic Police Station with all relevant documents, pay all pending fines completely and it is only then the vehicle would be released, the DCP added.

Pointing out that 100 percent fines should be paid for traffic offences such as triple riding, helmetless riding, signal jumping, rash and negligent riding among other traffic offences, the DCP said that after paying the fines at the respective Traffic Police Station, the owner of the seized vehicle should produce the fine paid receipt at Siddarthanagar Traffic Police Station and take their vehicle.

"The registration numbers of all the seized two-wheelers have been noted down and if the vehicle is again caught for triple riding, the two-wheeler will be seized and will not be released at any cost. Criminal case will be registered against the owner of the two-wheeler and also on the person riding it. Drive against triple riding will continue in city," DCP Geetha Prasanna said.

The DCP and Assistant Commissioner of Police (Traffic) Parashuramappa, who visited Siddarthanagar Traffic Police Station on Wednesday, where all the seized two-wheelers are parked, instructed Inspectors and Sub-Inspectors of all Traffic Police Stations to continue the special drive and also see that the offenders pay all traffic related fines in full and then release the seized vehicles.

Fight with wild tusker kills Dasara jumbo Gopalaswami

He was touted as the next-in-line Howdah Elephant

Mysuru, Nov. 24 (MTY&BCT)- Dasara elephant Gopalaswami, touted as the next-in-line Howdah Elephant, died at Koluvige Elephant Camp in Veeranahosahalli Range of the Nagarahole Tiger Reserve on Wednesday afternoon. The tusker, aged 39, sustained grievous injuries in a fight with a wild elephant.

Gopalaswami had participated in Dasara and the last Dasara was his 9th. He was mauled by wild tusker, suspected to be Aiyappa, a rogue elephant who was recently captured and radio-collared and sent back into the woods. Aiyappa had created havoc in the area by attacking other tamed jumbos and also was continuously raiding the villages, damaging standing crops.

Forest officials said, the elephants housed in jungle camps are normally allowed to wander in jungles and Gopalaswami was taken from Mathigodu Camp to the nearby Koluvige Camp. The attack on Gopalaswami took place on Monday night.

Gopalaswami had recently participated in a wild tusker capturing operation in Chikkamagaluru and was housed in Koluvige Camp as he was in the state of musth. As a precaution, Gopalaswami was chained and officers said that he would have been attacked by wild tuskers as a couple of wild jumbos were found roaming in the vicinity of Koluvige Camp. Gopalaswami was badly mauled in the fight and its internal organs were lacerated. So severe was the attack that its right hind-leg was broken and flesh with bones was protruding from the gash. This resulted in severe bleeding. Though a team of veterinarians, led by the famed Dr. Chittiappa, treated Gopalaswami, the jumbo succumbed to injuries late yesterday afternoon, officers said.

Gopalaswami was captured in Hetturu in Sakleshpur in 2009 as he was a terror in the region. He was captured and tamed at Mathigodu Elephant Camp. Gopalaswamy weighed 5,460 kgs during the last Dasara and is one of the more majestic elephants who measured 2.85 metres in height. He was second only to the mighty Arjuna who stood 2.95 metres tall. Apart from successfully participating in Dasara, Gopalaswami had earned accolades as he was part of many elephant and tiger capture operations along with the present Howdah Elephant Abhimanyu. Gopalaswami had abilities to withstand stress and hence was a regular in combing operations to capture tigers and wild elephants.

"He had a good height and was mighty too and due to these factors, Gopalaswami was projected as the future Howdah elephant. Also, he had experience of participating in 9 Dasaras. He was a gentle giant and had all the qualities to play the role of the Howdah Elephant. Among all the Dasara elephants, he was composed and performed any role assigned to him without throwing tantrums," said officers.

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai, Mysuru District Minister S.T. Somashekar and MLA S.A. Ramdas have condoled Gopalaswami's death and said that it would be a difficult task to replace a good tusker like him.

Echo of tigress falling victim to a snare

Anti-snare operation underway at Nagarahole

Hanagodu, Nov. 24 (Mahesh &BCT)- An anti-snare operation is underway on the fringes of Nagarahole Tiger Reserve to remove snares laid by poachers to capture wild animals.

Hunting of wildlife using wire snares is one of the major threats to the wildlife and only recently, a tigress, famous as Nayanjikatte Female, fell victim to a snare that was laid to capture wild boars near the Taraka Dam in the Antharasanthe Range of Nagarahole on Nov. 12.

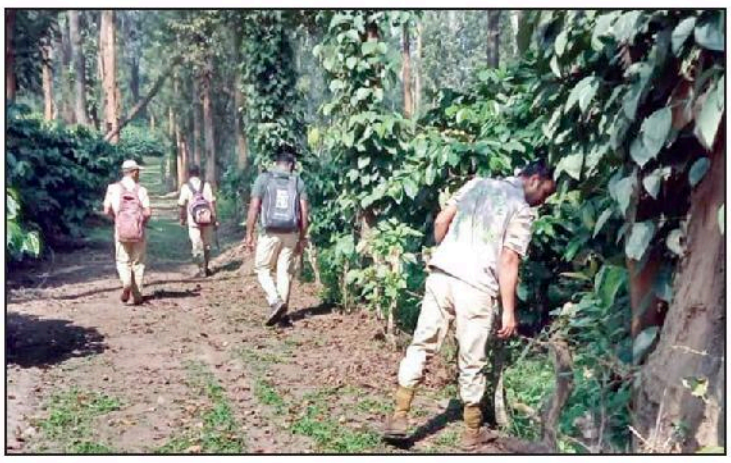
Snaring is one of the simplest and most effective hunting techniques and they are made of loop (noose) of cordage, sharp metal pieces that pierce through the skin of the trapped animal causing severe pain and are placed by hunters and poachers, camouflaged with vegetation across an animal trail or other place where an animal is likely to walk through.

Ever since the carcass of the tigress was recovered, over 300 Forest Department staff including teams of guards and watchers and personnel from the Special Tiger Task Force are combing the boundary line of the Tiger Reserve, hunting for snares that have been placed clandestinely amidst green vegetation.

C. Harshakumar, Director, Nagarahole Tiger Reserve

Their focus areas are the forest fringes that share boundaries with villages or human settlements where the number of snares is usually high as the people do not want animals to venture into their settlements and farmlands.

Snares come cheap and easy to procure and even wires from discarded electric poles and vehicle clutch wires can be converted into death traps. The moment an animal steps through the snare, the noose tightens and most of the animals caught in snares die a slow and painful death. Those animals who manage to break loose are left with serious injuries that get infected later, causing death.



Only a single snare recovered

However, the month-long anti-snare drive at Nagarahole has produced surprising results as so far only one snare has been recovered from the forest fringes. Even after searching hundreds of kilometres, teams could not find any other snares.

Following the snare killing of Nayanjikatte Female at about a distance of 500 metres from the forest towards a human habitation area, the search along the fringes of Antharasanthe Range was intensified but with little success. This has in a way brought smiles on the faces of Forest staff, officers and environment activists.

However, during the anti-snare drive that was conducted at Nagarahole in 2017, 121 snares were recovered from the fences. The discovery of only one snare this time has surprised the officers. However, sources said that soon after the news spread about the death of Nayanjikatte Female, people, who had set up snares, would have quietly removed them to escape detection by the Department staff.

Fear of law?

According to Nagarahole Tiger Reserve Director C. Harshakumar, the field staff have been given training on the detection of snares and practical training on anti-snare walk. "We normally adopt a practice to check snares not only in forest areas but also in adjacent agricultural fields as farmers place them to protect the crops from wild herbivores, but these can also trap wild carnivores such as leopards and tigers," he said.

It is a good thing that only a single snare has been found so far but the drive will continue for some more time, he said.

Apart from increased anti-poaching patrols and snare removals early morning and evenings, the Department also takes up conservation education where people living on the forest fringes and tribal communities are sensitised on cruelty of wire snares and the punishment under Wildlife Act if anyone is caught laying snares, he added.

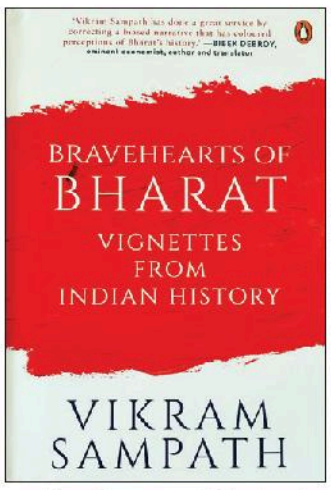
Whatever happened to bravehearts of Kashmir? Ask Vikram Sampath!

Vikram Sampath

Last month an interesting book about forgotten India — Hindustan, Bharat — was released in Bengaluru titled "Bravehearts of Bharat - Vignettes from Indian History" by the young historian Vikram Sampath. A prolific writer on subjects history, he has written a biography on Veer Savarkar in two tomes. He has also written a very good book on Mysore Wadiyar's titled "Splendours of Royal Mysore", a must read for Kannadigas, specially Mysureans.



Front cover of the book

Lalitaditya Muktapida

When this book "Bravehearts of Bharat" landed on my desk, courtesy Shubha Urs of Mysuru Book Clubs, I was delighted and immediately got down to reading it.

The book opens a window to the stories of select men and women, who valiantly fought against invaders to defend their territories, kingdoms, protect their rights, faith and freedom. During our student days, for all these 75 years after independence we Indians were denied access to the valour and rule of these bravehearts who lived and died in this Bharat, the Indian peninsula.

Vikram Sampath has greatly fulfilled this academic and historical need — he has thrown light on this black-hole of Indian history so that the present and future generation of our country may be enlightened about our noble and valiant kings and queens who had ruled us as per Sanatana Dharma. Thank you Vikram Sampath. Like Jesus raising the dead Lazarus back to life, you have raised to life and library our forgotten bravehearts who were entombed or cremated for centuries.

In the prologue to the book, Vikram Sampath eloquently writes about the way Indian history has been written during the Muslim and British years of rule, excluding Hindu kings, queens and even early Muslim rulers. We need stories of pre-Islamic Bharat also; not just the history of Bharat with capital in Delhi — Delhi Centric, considered as 'mainstream history' in relation to the 'regional history'.

"Do the Vijayanagar Empire (that ruled for more than three centuries from 1336 to 1646) or the mighty Karkota Dynasty of Kashmir or the Ahoms of Assam constitute 'regional stories' and the Delhi Sultanate the 'mainstream history' of India and not of a limited region?" asks Vikram Sampath. A very pertinent, piercing, question.

The most obsolete and short-lived, dynasties of Sultans with limited territories that ruled in and around Delhi became great history — those Tughlaqs or Lodhis or Khiljis. Yes Mughals ruled for a longer period. But what was their contribution beyond a few architectural structures? Exotic attire and, of course, the mouth-watering cuisine?

Unfortunately, nobody wrote in as much detail about dynasties in the southern part of India — Rashtrakutas, Chalukyas, Hoysalas, Satavahanas, Cholas, Pandyas, Wadiyars (of Mysore), Varmas of Travancore among others. Many more got buried in legends and folklore. Let it be. Vikram Sampath seems to have set-right this fault-line of Indian history by writing this book. He is reclaiming the forgotten history of India.

Be that as it may, curiously the very first braveheart in the book is Lalitaditya Muktapida of Kashmir (a portrait visualised by an artist from the book is published here).

The book says that there was a magnificent temple named after Martand, the Sun God of Hindu pantheon, built by the architects of the Kashmir's 'world conqueror' monarch called Lalitaditya Muktapida of Karkota dynasty, believed to be the descendants of the mythical Naga King (Serpent King) Karkota of the Mahabharata epic.

Period 724 CE (AD). This was also the period when politico-religious force of the Arab Muslims subjugated several countries across the world and began making violent invasion of India from Sindh, then ruled by Chacha Rai and Raja Dahar. According to history, this was the first Muslim invasion of India. The capital of Sindh, Brahmanabad, close to present Karachi, Pakistan, was pilloried to the last brick. Needless to say treachery by King Dahar's General was the cause for his defeat. Queen Rani Bai immolated herself, perhaps the first instance of jauhar in India. Dahar's daughters Suryadevi and Parimaldevi were packed off to the Caliph's harem by the Arab General Qasim.

Here is an interesting episode. Dahar's daughter Suryadevi was able to convince the Caliph that Qasim had already 'used her,' and therefore she was not worthy of being a part of the Caliph's harem. An enraged Caliph ordered arrest of Qasim and to be brought to Baghdad packed in a leather bag. Qasim died of suffocation enroute. Later Surayadevi confessed to the Caliph that she lied to him only to avenge her father's death from Qasim. An enraged Caliph ordered his soldiers to bury her and her sister alive in the ground.

To revert to the Kashmir King Lalitaditya Muktapida, the Arabs could not defeat him. And the king went on a march of 'Digvijaya' so on and so forth, his death still remaining a mystery in a far off land.

Now let me turn to present day Kashmir. Old Kashmir was a land of spiritualism, mysticism and religion. Also of Kashmir Pandits. Buddhism was a dominant religion but Adi Shankaracharya ensured that Hinduism was reclaimed. He visited Kashmir in the 9th century (788-820 AD) and wrote Soundarya Lahari in praise of Shakti at the top of the Gopadari Hill, now known as Shankaracharya Hill and the temple there is known as Shankaracharya temple. There is a Shivalinga and also a statue of Shankaracharya. This temple is situated about 100 kms to the South-West of Srinagar, which is now under occupation of Pakistan (PoK).

Much of Kashmir history mixed with legends and myths comes from Kalhana's book, a Sanskrit treatise, 'Rajatarangini' written in the 12th century — over 400 years after the two important events I mentioned above happened.

Ironically, the Gopadri Hill, now known as Shankaracharya Hill, has some connection to the present political alliance between several regional political parties in Jammu and Kashmir known as "The People's Alliance for Gupkar Declaration" (PAGD). Farooq Abdulla is the President of this Alliance. The ancient King of Kashmir Gopaditya granted the land at the foot of the hill to Brahmins who had come from 'Aryadesa', according to Kalhana. This area at the base of the hill is now called Gupkar, probably, that is the reason why the Political Alliance is known by that name, Gupkar Alliance.

A faint history of a glorious Kashmir for those who visit Kashmir to muse and mulch about a land that Jahangir, the Mughal Emperor, called a Paradise on Earth.

The hiked amount will be passed on to Dairy farmers, sources in the KMF said.

Fruity treat to Thabo at Mysuru Zoo

Mysuru, Nov. 24 (MTY&BCT) - Thabo, a Gorilla at the Mysuru Zoo, celebrated its 15th birthday yesterday and the primate was offered its favourite fruits. Zoo authorities have released photos and videos of the celebrations and visuals show the primate walking out from its enclosure to eat the fruits arranged neatly to form its name and patterns.

Thabo was brought from Germany after the COVID-19 pandemic along with another Gorilla named Demba. In January this year, Demba celebrated its 9th birthday.

Following the tradition, the Zoo management had arranged a fruity treat to make it special for the primate and fruits and vegetables like carrot, pineapple, orange, dates, cashew nuts, watermelon, radish, beetroot and cucumber were arranged inside the open area in his enclosure to write 'Happy Birthday Thabo'.

A cake-like arrangement was specially made for the occasion. Seeing the fruit arrangement, many visitors to the Zoo had gathered in front of the Gorilla enclosure and after the arrangements were completed in the open area in front of the enclosure, Thabo's cage was opened.

The primate slowly ventured out of the cage and enjoyed the fruits and vegetables picking them up with both hands while visitors clicked photos on their mobile phones and wished a happy birthday to the primate.

The Mysuru Zoo is the only Zoo in India to house Gorillas — Demba and Thabo — that were brought from Germany through EAZA (European Association of Zoos and Aquaria) under EEP (European Endangered Species Programme).

They were brought to the Zoo seven years after India's only Gorilla Polo — 41-year-old Western Lowland Gorilla — died in 2014 at the Zoo. Polo was brought to Mysuru Zoo in 1995 from Dublin Zoo and after its death, the gorilla enclosure was vacant until Demba and Thabo were brought from Germany.

Rs. 15 lakh for those killed by wild elephants: CM

Hassan, Nov. 24 (Agencies)- A compensation of Rs 15 lakh is being given to those killed in wild elephant attacks in Karnataka and there is a proposal to provide job to a member of the deceased family, said Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai.

Speaking to reporters at Halebeedu Helipad, the CM said that the State Government has taken the elephant menace seriously and has constituted the Elephant Task Force to deal with the wild elephants.

"Elephants which had come out from the forests following drought for many years have not returned. The other reason for the jumbo attacks is human beings entering forests for some reason or the other," he claimed.

Since it is not correct to launch an operation after any single incident, the Task Force has been constituted to launch the operation regularly, he said, adding that each Task Force is provided with training, vehicles, equipment and a control room has also been established.

The job of the special force members is to patrol the elephant-infested areas regularly and push back the animals back into forests. In case the wild elephants are more in number, then members of all the forces must join together and send back the jumbos into forests, Bommai said.

He further said that the task force has been given directions to launch this operation for at least 10 days.

"A sum of Rs. 100 crore has been earmarked in this year's budget for this purpose. A new kind of fence is being put up in Bandipur National Park. The Elephant Corridor will be fully protected," he added.

Voter Enrolment Drive

Continuing, Mysuru DC Dr. K.V. Rajendra said that an applicant can register 6 new voters one time through the App.

As such the applicant, other than filing his/her own application, can also make efforts to register five others who could be his/her family members or friends who are eligible but not yet registered.

Noting that the students should not just keep quiet after filing their online applications, the DC said that they should follow up their application and get updated until their name finds mention in the regular electoral rolls without any errors.

"The electoral roll will be updated every quarter. For the current round of annual revision of electoral roll 2023, any citizen attaining the age of 18 years by Apr.1, July 1 and Oct. 1 of 2023 can also submit an advance application for registration as a voter for the draft publication of electoral roll. The students can seek the help of Booth Level Officers (BLO) and get to know about their booth location," Dr. Rajendra said.

The DC further said that today, the voter registration is being done only through online and there is no physical application submission.

Giving some tips to the students on setting goals, the DC said that the students of today are facing several distractions in their studies, which they should overcome by all means for their own future.

Today, as a special occasion, the students were allowed to bring their cell phones to their College for voter enrolment.

SVEEP Literacy Club Co-ordinator Mangalamurthy, DDPUE Nagamallesh, Additional DC Dr. B.S. Manjunathaswamy, College Principal Somanna and others were present.

The DC later went to Maharani's College of Commerce and Management for Women located on Valmiki Road in Paduvarahalli, where also he launched the drive.

Dowry harassment and abetting suicide

Husband among four sentenced to 9-year jail

Mysuru, Nov. 24- City's 5th Additional District and Sessions Court has sentenced four persons including the husband of the deceased woman to nine years rigorous imprisonment and Rs. 25,000 fine after they were found guilty of harassing the woman for dowry and also for abetting suicide.

Those who were convicted are G. Siddaraju, his mother Jayamma, sisters Suma and Ishwarya of Tumbunerale village in Nanjangud taluk while the deceased woman is Pushpamala alias Mala of Tayur village in Nanjangud taluk.

Basavanayaka, a resident of Tayur village, had given his daughter Mala in marriage to G. Siddaraju on May 30, 2012 during which he had given Rs. 1 lakh as dowry and Rs. 1 lakh for marriage expenses.

After the marriage, Siddaraju and his family members began to harass Mala mentally and physically for dowry and also began to taunt her by saying that her family members did not give anything and it would have been better if they had got Siddaraju married to some other girl, whose family may have given more dowry. Though a meeting (Panchayti) by village elders was held, Mala's husband Siddaraju and his family members continued to harass and torture Mala.

In 2014, Basavanayaka brought Mala to his home on account of Gowri festival and on Nov. 4, 2014, Mala committed suicide by hanging self at her parents' house. A case was registered at Badanavalu Police Station. The then Nanjangud Sub-Division Dy.SP Nikam Prakash Amrut, who investigated the case, had submitted the charge-sheet to the Court.

Judge Mallikarjun, who took up the case, heard the arguments from both sides, found Siddaraju, Jayamma, Suma and Ishwarya guilty and sentenced them to nine years rigorous imprisonment besides imposing a fine of Rs. 25,000 on each one them. Out of the total fine amount, the Court has ordered Rs. 70,000 be paid to Mala's father Basavanayaka.

Public Prosecutor Nagappa C. Naakaman, argued on behalf of the Government.

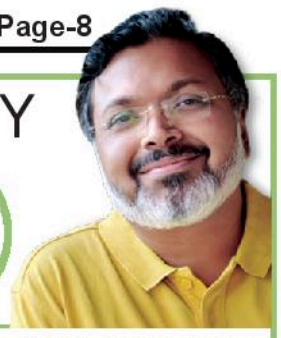
DECODING MYTHOLOGY



Dr. Devdutt Pattanaik - Author, Speaker, Illustrator, Mythologist

The Wish-Fulfilling Paradise

In Hindu, Jain and Buddhist mythology, paradise or Swarga, is described as a place where the wish-fulfilling tree, Kalpataru, grows; where the wish-fulfilling cow, Kamadhenu, lives; and where Chintamani, the wish-fulfilling jewel is found. In other words, it is a place of infinite plant, animal and mineral resources, where all needs and wants and dreams are satisfied.

The residents of Swarga are the devas; Indra is their king. These devas are invoked in the Rig Veda through hymns of flattery. This is done with the hope that they will share some of their vast fortune with humans. But the devas are not worshipped in a single Hindu temple. There is no temple to Indra. Why? It's clear that possessing this wish-fulfilling tree or cow or jewel does not make you a God worthy of worship.

Every tree in nature has a purpose. However, humans only value trees that bring us some economic benefit. Those that provide us with wood and spices, with food or clothing. Valuable trees like mango and banana and coconut become important and worthy of worship. Plants that bring shade and last long, like pipal and banyan, are worshipped. Plants that have no value, are not even pretty to the eye, are not put in the gardens, orchards or fields. Weeds are disregarded and kept outside settlements. But Gods like Shiva and Hanuman, who live in the wilderness, seem to value these wild useless plants. Datura and the calotropis, though poisonous weeds, are used in their worship.

No single plant can satisfy all our desires. No single animal or human or mineral can satisfy all our needs. We need many. Managing many is difficult. So we fantasise about that one thing which satisfies all our needs. This is the quest for the job that will give us what the Japanese call "ikigai" — makes us happy, makes us money, makes us famous.

But if we get that tree that satisfies our needs and wants, will we be happy? Or will we want more? And more?

How will we cope with boredom that creeps in? To get rid of boredom we seek innovative ideas to entertain us from the wish-fulfilling tree/cow/jewel. Therefore, one often hears of rich and powerful people indulging in crazy practices. You hear stories of rich people torturing servants, abusing children, getting pleasure in useless fetishes, travelling to exotic inaccessible places, indulging in practices that are forbidden in society, in order to feel they are rich and can do what others cannot afford. But does all the comfort and luxury take away boredom? The mind wants more.

In Indian mythologies, a greater heaven is not where all wishes are fulfilled, it is a heaven where you have outgrown hunger and desires fully. It is a state of being where you do not feel the need for Kalpataru or Kamadhenu or Chintamani. You are happy with what you have. Such a person is content everywhere. He is content in the forest, he is content in the desert, he is content in the city. This idea manifests as the Buddha-kshetra heaven of Adi Buddha and Siddha loka of Jain Tirthankaras, the heaven of contentment. This idea is embodied in Shiva, who lives on the mountain of stone covered with ice, and Vishnu, who is surrounded by the ocean of milk. These content beings are enshrined in temples, not the needy Indra.

500 dancers perform over 30 unique dance forms at Hejje Gejje-2022

'Kannada Ratna' award conferred on Priyanka Upendra and Raghavendra Hunsur

Actress Priyanka Upendra and ZEE Kannada Channel Business Head Raghavendra Hunsur, who were conferred with 'Kannada Ratna' award at 'Hejje Gejje-2022' programme at Open Air Theatre in Manasagangothri in city on Sunday, are seen with (from left) Vidu. Sowmya Sridhar Jain, Guru Vid. Sridhar Jain, HCG Group of Hospitals and Bharath Cancer Hospital Chairman Dr. B.S. Ajai Kumar, Film Director Sudhakar Sajja and former MUDA Chairman H.V. Rajeev. Picture right shows Vid. Sridhar Jain, along with his disciples, performing on a 5-ft. tabla.

Mysuru, Nov. 24 (GA&SSM)- As part of Silver Jubilee celebrations of 'Hejje Gejje' National Dance Festival, city-based Sri Nimishamba Dance Promoters had organised 'Mera Bharat Nrutyotsava' at Open Air Theatre in Manasagangothri here on Sunday.

On the occasion, Actress Priyanka Upendra and ZEE Kannada Channel Business Head Raghavendra Hunsur were conferred with 'Kannada Ratna' award.

Nearly 500 artistes presented over 30 unique dance forms of various States including Bharatanatyam, Kuchipudi, Kathak, Mohiniyattam, Odissi, Dollu Kunita, Puja Kunita etc. Guru Vid. Sridhar Jain of 'Apthamithra' fame performed on a 5-ft tabla which was the highlight of the programme. The two-and-a-half-hour spectacle made all the guests, who were to attend the inaugural ceremony for half-an-hour amidst their busy schedule, to watch the show till the end.

Speaking on the occasion, former MUDA Chairman H.V. Rajeev lauded the efforts of Sri Nimishamba Dance Promoters for organising dance programmes like this which should actually be organised by a University. "If a city has to develop it must have art, culture and theatre activities. Mysore Maharajas were successful in contributing in all these fields. However, the artistes of this institution have succeeded in continuing the legacy of Maharajas," he said.

Priyanka Upendra, who spoke after receiving the award, said that she is fond of Mysuru city compared to Bengaluru where she is presently residing. "People of Mysuru love cinemas. Dance is like a meditation which is part of life and is helpful in various stages of life," she added.

Recalling his professional life journey where he decided to move to Bengaluru to pursue his dream, Raghavendra Hunsur said that he had dreamt of going to Bengaluru and achieve big in life. "We usually concentrate on commercial aspects while producing a programme or content in channels. Hence, it is impossible to give prominence to cultural aspects. In this institution, artistes, gurus and parents are putting equal efforts in protecting culture which is a great development in the society," he said.

Praveen Jain, Revathi Kamath, Anil R. Jain and A.P. Srinivas were conferred with 'Hejje-Gejje' award at the programme.

HCG Group of Hospitals and Bharath Cancer Hospital Chairman Dr. B.S. Ajai Kumar, Film Director Sudhakar Sajja, Sri Nimishamba Dance Promoters Managing Director and Guru Vid. Sridhar Jain of 'Apthamithra' fame, Vidu. Sowmya Sridhar Jain, Lasya Jain, Sarang Jain and others were present.

'Watching intl. films will enrich knowledge about various cultures'

Actor Girija Lokesh at MyIFF-2022

Mysuru, Nov. 24 (GA&SSM)- "Watching movies of different languages from across the world is an enriching experience which helps in gaining knowledge about various cultures around the world," opined senior actor Girija Lokesh. She was speaking at the second Mysuru International Film Festival (MyIFF)-2022 organised by Sri Pranava Mysuru at Rama-Govinda Rangamandira in Ramakrishnanagar here on Sunday.

Girija Lokesh, who was the chief guest at the event, said that International movies give prominence to silence over sound elements in their movies. Watching this kind of movies means giving keen attention towards the cultural, traditional, musical and acting elements of the film. Doing this helps one gain diverse knowledge about cultural practices of various countries which differs when compared to our country.

Informing about her journey as an actor, Girija said that she has always followed the instructions she received from directors. "I have received immense love and appreciation from people to which I am always grateful. My father-in-law Subbaiah Naidu was the first actor to star in the first Kannada talkie film 'Sati Sulochana' (1934) directed by Y.V. Rao. He has contributed a lot to Kannada Cinemas as well as theatre. Theatre plays used to give more importance to musical elements in olden days when compared to present. Subbaiah Naidu used to give significance to literature, script and acting in his plays," she added and entertained the audience by singing a song from 'Bedara Kannappa' movie starring Dr. Rajkumar.

Theatre artiste Rameshwari Verma, film Director and National awardee Praveen Krupakar, Vibha Educational Trust Trustee Dr. Ambika Nazareth, Manisha School of Performing Arts Founder Sreedevi Unni, film Producer Jayaprakash, GCCR Founder-Chairman Georjee Kochupurakal and others were present on the occasion.

WORD OF THE DAY

Aegrotat

Pronunciation: ee-groh-tat.
Meaning: An unclassified degree granted to a university student who has fulfilled all requirements for graduation but was prevented by illness from attending the final examinations.
Origin: Aegrotat, "a graduate degree given because of illness," is a British English term that was borrowed from Latin, in which aegrōtat literally means "(a person) is sick." Unlike English, Latin typically uses -re to mark the infinitive, therefore, the infinitive counterpart of aegrōtat is aegrōtāre, meaning "to be sick," which comes from aeger, "sick." Despite the similar spelling, aeger is not related to Latin ager (stem agr-), "field," or the recent Word of the Day eagre. Aegrotat was first recorded in English in the early 1860s.
Example: With an unusually nasty flu making its way around the university, the Vice-Chancellor granted aegrotats to several sick students who were otherwise set to graduate midyear.

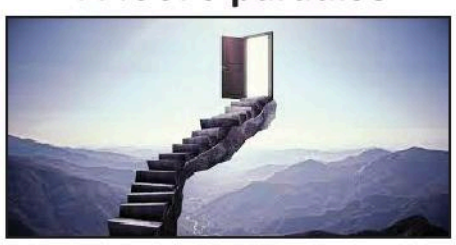
THE ODD WORD

Absinthism

Disease resembling alcoholism.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

A fool's paradise



Meaning: A state of happiness based on false hope.
Origin: This is an early phrase, first recorded in the Paston Letters, 1462: "I wold not be in a folis paradyce."
Shakespeare later used it in Romeo and Juliet, 1592.
Nurse: Now, afore God, I am so vexed, that every part about me quivers. Scurvy knave! Pray you, sir, a word: and as I told you, my young lady bade me inquire you out; what she bade me say, I will keep to myself: but first let me tell ye, if ye should lead her into a fool's paradise, as they say, it were a very gross kind of behavior, as they say: for the gentlewoman is young; and, therefore, if you should deal double with her, truly it were an ill thing to be offered to any gentlewoman, and very weak dealing.
